

PRESS RELEASE FINDER DARTS MASTERS 2017

Egmond aan Zee, Saturday the 9th of December 2017

For tomorrow the names of the players in the quarter finals men and the youth and women's finals are known. After some thrilling matches and surprising results and calculation of the tournament officials 12 players start on Sunday to obtain the title

In the last games of the group stage on Saturday night, these decisions were made. In group G with Martin Adams, Scott Waites and Kyle McKinstry we had a special situation. All three players had the same result so based on the tournament darts average Scott Waites became the winner of this group and so entered the quarterfinals.

In group D, the same could happen as in group G, but Willem Mandigers, the seeded player in the group managed to prevent this by winning 5-3 in a nervous final phase of his match against debutant Michael Unterbuchner from Germany and so he entered the quarter finals

In group A, Lithuanian Darius Labanauskas defeated Mark McGeeney, the number one seed of the tournament, 5-1. Both had won a match in the group and the winner of that match qualified for the quarterfinals. So that was Darius Labanauskas.

In group B of the ladies tournament also a sensational match for a place in the ladies finale. Aileen de Graaf who was 3-0 in front against Anastasia Dobromyslova had to play a deciding 7th leg as Anastasia won 3 legs in a row for 3-3.

And in that leg both players were on a double but the matchdarts at last was thrown by Aileen de Graaf who now plays Deta Hedman for the ladies title.
